CE 250: Leadership for Social Responsibility

(Prof. Amy Koritz, Spring 2014, Class will meet: MWF 9:40-10:30 a.m. - 4 credits)

This course introduces students to socially responsible leadership as a practice and a field of study. While learning about individual, organizational, and social change leadership, students will develop an understanding of their own strengths as leaders. Through personal reflection, team exercises, academic research and a real-world leadership project, students in this class will explore the knowledge, skills, and values that make for both successful and unsuccessful leadership efforts. GEN ED: Interdisciplinary

*Required course for Leadership for Social Action Minor

For more information, contact the course instructor or the Center for Civic Engagement at engage@drew.edu or x8827

Registration information on the Registrar's website: http://www.drew.edu/registrar/registration-guide/undergraduate