Drew University Tuition Stabilization Plan Explained

Drew University offers a plan in which a parent may prepay undergraduate tuition for the full four-year period, thereby avoiding the effects of future tuition increases. The Tuition Stabilization Plan (TSP) was designed to help participants plan, manage, and afford the costs of a Drew University undergraduate education. Many families should find the TSP attractive as a hedge against inflation. The TSP prepayment may be funded by liquidating investments or by borrowing on existing equities, especially those that have appreciated in value. As tuition rates at independent universities rise, TSP participants may achieve savings in tuition increases equivalent to the loss of investment income or interest payments. We recommend that those planning to participate conclude their paperwork with Drew by early June in order to meet time requirements for the plan.

The TSP participants sign the Tuition Stabilization Agreement in June prior to the Fall semester. This plan is only available to families of first-year students and is not normally intended for use by students receiving financial aid based on need.

RATES IN EFFECT
Drew University will accept prepayment of the total undergraduate tuition at the rate in effect when the student enters the first semester of their Freshman year at Drew University (originating rate). A student whose tuition is paid under TSP does not pay future tuition increases.

Current and upcoming tuition rates can be found by visiting the Business Office website at www.drew.edu/StudentAccounts. The rates shown on the website are per semester rates (there are 8 semesters to be considered in this agreement). Please confirm the rate to be used in this agreement by contacting the Business Office at 973/408-3114.

Every TSP participant is required to sign the Tuition Stabilization Agreement covering the operative terms of the plan. If the student withdraws from the university, unused tuition will be refunded as provided by the agreement and applicable university rules.

WHO MAY PARTICIPATE
The TSP was designed principally for parents of Drew University undergraduates. However, prepayment may be made by other parties on behalf of a student.

LENGTH OF ENROLLMENT, STUDY ABROAD
TSP may be used for a minimum of four year (eight semesters) and a maximum of five years (10 semesters).

If the student elects to enroll in a study abroad program offered by Drew University, the tuition will be covered at the guaranteed rate. If the student attends a study abroad program offered by another institution, the tuition payment to that institution rendered by Drew University on behalf of the student will be at the originating rate.

PERMANENT WITHDRAWAL
If a parent prepays tuition and the student permanently withdraws from Drew prior to the beginning of a semester, the unused semester’s tuition will be refunded to the originator at the originating rate. For withdrawals after the start of a semester, refund for that particular semester will be according to the refund policy as stated in the Drew University Catalog.
