Loren Galler Rabinowitz

Miss Massachusetts 2010 & Advocate for Holocaust Remembrance

The Third Generation Comes of Age

Friday, March 30, 2012 • 7pm

Drew University's Learning Center Rm. 28

(follow ramp to entrance beneath the Library)

Loren Galler Rabinowitz was crowned Miss Massachusetts just weeks after graduating from Harvard in 2010. A classically trained pianist and award-winning poet, she is currently a medical student at Columbia University. In 2011 she was named the Scholar/Athlete of the Year by the National Jewish Sports Hall of Fame.

As a grandchild of Holocaust survivors...

Loren is committed to Holocaust education and telling her grandparents' incredible story of survival. This past year, Loren was a keynote speaker for the US Holocaust Memorial Museum annual fundraising gala and at the 15-year commemoration of the New England Holocaust Memorial. She is a spokesperson for Facing History & Ourselves and Generations Remember: A Promise for Boston 3G, a group for the grandchildren of Holocaust survivors.

In Loren's own words...

"As a grandchild of Holocaust survivors, I am constantly reminded that I belong to a legacy of survivorship and resilience that has existed for thousands of years."

Ms. Rabinowitz will present Drew Hillel's
First Ayshet Chayil Woman of Valor Award to

Ann L. Saltzman, Ph.D.
Director of Drew's Center for Holocaust/Genocide Study
