

Drew Oral History Project Frequently Asked Questions

1. I received an email/postcard/phone call from a company asking for my personal information and a story about Drew University. Is this a legitimate project or is it a scam?

It's legit! We have partnered with Publishing Concepts, Inc. (PCI) to produce an oral history publication for Drew University. PCI is a family owned business based in Dallas, TX that has published directories for educational institutions, greek life organizations, and military organizations across the nation for almost 100 years. This project allows Drew University to hear about your personal experiences and share how Drew University has helped shape your lives.

2. Does Drew University benefit from this at all?

Yes, in a few different ways:

- Updated Information: allows us to effectively communicate with and engage alumni
- Legacy: preserves the history of our school

3. How do I know my information will only be used for Oral History Project purposes?

PCI is committed to protecting your information. The names, addresses and information provided to PCI for the publication of the Drew Oral History Project will be held confidential by PCI, except to the extent that they are utilized in, or in the preparation of, the Drew Oral History Project and except as required by court order or law. Publishing Concepts is our trusted partner and they are also PCI DSS (Payment Card Industry Data Security Standard) compliant. In simple terms, that means they are audited several times annually and your data security is held to the highest standard. Upon completion of the project, PCI will redact personal identifiable information (PII) from any and all electronic files that we have supplied or were produced by PCI in connection with the production of the Drew Oral History Project.

4. I would like to verify or update my information and share a story. How can I do this?

Your story will be recorded and the sound clip provided to Drew University at the conclusion of the project. The average call is approximately 5 minutes.
