Pastoral Identity and Prophetic Fire

Fall 2018
PURPOSE OF THE HANDBOOK

This handbook is a guide for the Pastoral Identity and Prophetic Fire concentration of the Doctor of Ministry program at the Drew Theological School. It provides information and structure to make it possible for students to move through the program without excessive technical distractions.

The Doctor of Ministry at Drew University Theological School is a community of learners. In the intensive and online learning spaces of the program, students ponder important and necessary questions about ministry. While building on and retaining the mission and vision of what might be called traditional church, we know that students are considering their vocation, call, and engagement in contexts where matters of social justice, the environment, and spiritual formation beyond the church demand dialogue and theological reflection. As you are guided by those questions, we invite you to be faithful to deep listening to and for and with one another in this present moment. The many disciplines of the faculty provide the venue of study. The community of learners is the context for thinking deep and wide and for moving through the joy of a transformative journey.

This handbook provides:

- A Quick View of key Doctor of Ministry student expectations
- Requirements and timeline for the Courageous Leadership program
- Review of academic policies and processes most relevant to the program
- A program planning check list

The pursuit of a doctoral degree is no small task. DMin students are building relationships and skillsets that will deepen the impact of their ministry in their context, they are conducting original research, and they are developing new scholarship in their area of interest. With these lofty goals in mind, the Office of Doctoral Studies is here to support students who have taken this step of faith. It is our hope that this handbook can help to minimize confusion, make expectations clear, and track necessary timelines to help make this journey a smooth one.

√ Use your Drew email

Always use your Drew email account or have set it to auto-forward to the email address that you access most frequently. Staff and faculty will send important official notices only to your Drew University email account.

√ When you are present, be fully present

All Doctoral of Ministry courses are held on an intensive schedule or online. These condensed schedules and virtual learning spaces are designed for the life demands professionals but also require a critical commitment. Students are expected to attend all classes for the complete allotted time. You cannot be fully present in an online class while driving or on the phone in a busy location. If, for reasons of illness or dire emergency you must miss all or part of a scheduled class or meeting, be sure to alert the faculty person(s) involved.

√ Pay attention to Drew’s deadlines and policies

Although D.Min. students learn in different times and spaces than other Drew students, you are nonetheless expected to work within Drew policies and procedures. Familiarize yourself with the deadlines related to withdrawals, grade extensions, and academic petitions. Information can be found on the Registrar’s office page on the Treehouse website. You can access this with your Drew email account and ID number.

√ Keep Drew informed

Report changes in your address and phone number, your ministry location, your prospectus and project timetable, etc. to the Director of Doctoral Studies and your advisors in a timely way. Please note that every student must have updated vaccination records on file with Drew University Health Services. These records must be filed before or during the first semester of study. Without updated records, admitted students will be prevented from registering beyond the first semester. Specific information, health services offices and links can be found on the Drew Treehouse website. http://www.drew.edu/health-services/

Completing the Pastoral Identity & Prophetic Fire Program

The Doctor of Ministry (DMin) is the most advanced research degree in the practice of ministry. The “Pastoral Identity and Prophetic Fire in a Fluid Culture” cohort will be focused on exploring pastoral identities in the context of continuously changing cultural shifts. Students will study pastoral leadership in the current cultural moment and develop projects that demonstrate innovative prophetic possibility as a pastoral practice for fluid times. Pastoral identity is formed through a journey that has intersections and engagements with, and others resistances to the world and communities in which pastors serve. This program aims to create space that gives rise to the earnest explorations of leadership first and foremost as discipleship of the pastor/leader.

The Prophetic Fire concentration is designed for students wishing to work closely with mentors Dr. Leonard Sweet and Dr. Gary Simpson. This mentor-based approach combines intensive learning experiences with coaching sessions to move students toward a doctor of ministry project. This program, like all of the DMin offerings is in alignment with the Theological School’s vision and mission to “empower creative thought and courageous action to advance justice, peace, and the love of God, neighbor, and the earth.”

The program will span three years (Aug. 2018 – April 2021) with graduation of this cohort in May 2021.

Required Leadership Modules

Gatherings: The leadership modules consist of four gatherings – full days of study and discussion, shared meals and worship – and weekly mentoring sessions. During the Drew-based intensives, students may choose to commute to Drew, stay in area hotels, or use the modest Drew housing at a reduced rental rate. Additional housing information will be circulated for other locations at a later date.

Students will receive the expectations for these courses (the Mentor’s Epistle) at least a month in advance and are expected to prepare reading and writing for the courses before arrival. In these sessions, students and mentors will build a learning community thoughtfully responsive to the individual and collective contributions. These intensives will offer students and mentors space to explore who and what pastors are, and can be in this context. These experiences are designed for pastors who are serious about their love for the church (meaning congregationally based ministries and communities of faithful believers) and for its future.

At the conclusion of these intensives, students receive an evaluation of their work, an assessment of their preparedness for doctoral-level study, and recommendations for developing writing and research skills as needed.
Mentoring Sessions: In addition to gatherings, the cohort will connect with the mentors online weekly. After the first gathering in August 2018, meetings will be held via Zoom at 8:00 am beginning on the Monday after Labor Day (September 10). Thereafter, the cohort will meet via Zoom each Monday of the semester.

Additional Resources: Non-credit writing and research workshops are offered online for all Drew students who need additional preparation for the professional project. Students should discuss their plan of study with the Director of Doctoral Studies to ensure they are ready to begin the Professional Project in a timely fashion.

Professional Project

The Doctor of Ministry culminates in a research project featuring substantial biblical and theological reflection and engagement with the ministry context, contributing to public knowledge about the practice of ministry. A professional project in the Pastoral Identity and Prophetic Fire concentration is a body of work that develops leadership competence and makes a significant contribution to the candidate's ministerial context.

The project is completed in two modules:

DMIN 890: Fluidity- Professional Project Seminar I
- Discussion, project proposal, development, and research
- In this module, students develop a project proposal that must be approved by a faculty advisor and assigned reader.
- Students must complete the paper and pass DMIN 890 before continuing to DMIN 894. There are no letter grades in the project phase, simply “pass” or “not pass.” Attendance, participation, progress is expected of the student, however this is not sufficient to pass the module.

DMIN 894 Improvisation – Professional Project Seminar II
- Research and project completion
- After passing the first research module, students register for DMIN 894. This module is completed with a write-up of a 100-page doctoral thesis demonstrating leadership skills in the student’s ministry context.
Graduation

Doctoral candidacy is conferred upon those who have maintained a GPA of 3.2 or above in coursework, have an approved prospectus on file in the Office of Doctoral Studies, and have submitted their doctoral project to the library according to the published deadlines and style requirements.

Students may complete the degree in August, December, or May of each year. Commencement exercises are held in May of each year for all students who have completed their degrees in the August or December prior to each Commencement.
Program Timeline

This DMin cohort is bound by a specific meeting schedule. In order to successfully complete the Pastoral Identity & Prophetic Fire DMin, students must prioritize these intensive sessions and the online meeting times. Students who are unable to attend any portion of the in-person meetings or are absent from more than two (2) online sessions in a semester will not be able to complete the program. If this occurs, student will be offered admission into the Courageous Leadership DMin program, which offers a more flexible program timeline.

Frequently Asked Questions

The Theological School Academic Policies are published annually in Drew University’s Theological School Catalogue. This document can be accessed in its entirety from the Registrar’s webpage. If there is any contradiction between this Catalogue and the FAQs below, the Catalogue dated to the student’s semester of entrance takes precedence.

How long do I have to complete the program?

The Drew Doctor of Ministry Program concentrations are designed to be completed within three years, comprised of at least six registered semesters. After three years, continuing students who have not yet completed their project may maintain their matriculation for an additional four semesters before being withdrawn from the program. All candidates must complete the program within five years. Leaves of absence are not included in the 5-year total time (see the Registration Status section below).

Who is my advisor?

Your academic work will be developed in consultation with your cohort mentors, but the Director of Doctoral Studies is your academic program advisor during your time as a student at Drew. Any questions related to the program, advising issues beyond the project itself, or for recommendations or references for student academic support resources, please contact the Office of Doctoral Studies.

How is the program billed?

Tuition for the Doctor of Ministry program is billable by the credit hour and payable each semester. Current rates and fees can be found on the Drew Business Office web page on the Theological School tab:

Failure to make timely tuition payments, or having a balance over $2500 at the time of registration, results in a hold on the student’s account. In addition to tuition, each Courageous Leadership student has travel, housing, and food costs related to attending one summer intensive session.

Refunds for Doctor of Ministry students are determined by the University Policy covering students not receiving state or federal aid. Prorated charges are based upon the date of actual withdrawal. See http://www.drew.edu/fba/students-parents/institutional-refund-policies/
What financial assistance is available?

Students are eligible for Federal Student Loans during the semesters in which they are taking 6 or more credits. To apply, contact the Drew University Office of Financial Aid, request, and complete the federal Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) form for determination of need. A new FAFSA form must be completed for each year of financial need.

Military Financial Assistance and Veterans Educational Benefits may be available to some. For eligibility, you may wish to contact the Department of Veterans Affairs at 1-800-827-1000.

Since the Doctor of Ministry degree requires lay participation in the ministry project, directly benefits the church congregation or community agency, and has intrinsic programmatic value, many church or organizational boards support their ministerial leader financially and professionally. Be sure to explore congregational and denominational resources. Some denominational boards and agencies provide special scholarships and loans for professional continuing education.

For further information concerning financial aid, please contact the Drew Office of Financial Aid at 973-408-3112.

I have an unpaid bill. Can I attend a course without registering?

Students are required to register for courses prior to attending them. Those who are not properly registered are not permitted to attend classes and cannot receive a grade. Student accounts must be current at the beginning of each semester. Registration requests received after the Registrar’s deadlines are subject to a late registration fee.

Can I transfer credits into my degree?

While many other DMin programs allow for credit transfer, the nature of this cohort requires credits be earned at Drew. Credits transferred from other degree or certificate programs cannot be applied to the Pastoral Identity and Prophetic Fire DMin.

What happens if I miss class?

Students are expected to attend all class sessions and complete the course assignments within the specified time. A full day’s absence in an intensive amounts to a significant loss of the contact hours. Stay in close contact with your professor. A student should not expect to pass the course with an “A” grade if absent from a scheduled class.
What should I do if I cannot complete a course?

In extenuating circumstances, a student may request and be granted an extension of time in which to complete a course. Before the course ends, speak with your professor and submit a petition for an incomplete through the Graduate Academic Standing petition on the Registrar’s page.

Can I drop an intensive course before the first class meets?

The last date to drop a class without a “W” or with a “W” may occur before the first meeting of an intensive course in a particular semester (see the Academic Calendar on the Registrar’s webpage). In this case, students may petition to the Graduate Academic Standing Committee to drop the course without a W and receive a refund on tuition. Because the faculty and students are expected to prepare for the course well before it meets in person, this request will not be approved except in cases with notable extenuating circumstances.

How do I request exceptions or propose alternatives for my program?

Begin by talking with the Director of Doctoral Studies, who is an advisor for all Doctor of Ministry students. The Director may also recommend that you consult with faculty about certain requests. In order to request exceptions or propose alternatives, submit a petition to the Graduate Academic Standing Committee. Petitions are submitted electronically and can be found on the Registrar’s web page. Petitions are needed for tutorials, leaves of absence, late changes in registration, extensions for completing a course.

Can I take a tutorial in this program?

Given the nature of this mentor-based Doctor of Ministry, tutorials are not normally approved. Exceptions may be made by petition and most often to allow a student to proceed with the program on schedule with other students.

How do I get accommodations for a disability?

Students who require accommodations should contact the Office of Accessibility Resources (OAR), in Brothers College, 973-408-3962, for a private, confidential appointment. Accommodation Request Letters are issued to students after documentation, written by a qualified professional, is reviewed and accommodations are approved by OAR. For more information, see: http://www.drew.edu/academic-services/disabilityservices. Accommodations are implemented by faculty only after the student presents the Accommodation Request Letter issued by OAR. Letters should be presented to the faculty at least one week before the accommodation is needed. Students’ requests for accommodations thus should be submitted to OAR within the first two weeks of a course. Returning students with previously approved accommodations should make letter requests for the current semester to Accessibility Resources within the first two weeks of class.
What happens if bad weather prevents me from getting to class?

Students are expected to attend class when the University is open. Long-distance commuting students should stay in close contact with the Professor in cases of inclement weather. The decision to cancel classes due to weather will be made by the University. To sign up for the University’s emergency notification system or to view policies regarding snow closings, visit: https://www.drew.edu/emergency/

What resources are available to help me with my writing?

Given that the DMin requires three years of demonstrated leadership in a ministry setting, many of our students have been away from the academy for some time and find they need some assistance getting back into the world of academic writing. Students are encouraged to look into the resources available to Drew students at the Center for Academic Excellence: https://www.drew.edu/center-academic-excellence/

The Theological School also brought on a Writing Assistant to work specifically with DMin students this year. Please contact the Office of Doctoral Studies to schedule time to meet with this writing assistant.

Am I expected to use inclusive language in my work for this program?

The Drew University Theological School affirms the full equality of all persons in God’s all-inclusive love, regardless of gender, race, nation, class, age, ability, religion, or sexual orientation (Galatians 3:28). This theological conviction finds social expression in spoken and written language. In order to live out a crucial practical dimension of our equality in Christ and to avoid marginalizing members of our community, the Theological School expects students to use non-discriminatory and mindfully inclusive language for humanity both in the classroom (that is, in writing assignments, presentations, and classroom discussions) and in the chapel liturgy (that is, in prayers and sermons). Students are also encouraged to use a variety of metaphors when referring to God. While students will not receive grade deductions on specific assignments, they will be evaluated on their overall efforts to engage the theological and social problems of discriminatory and exclusive language. This policy thus encourages students to work to integrate a theology of God’s love and justice with the everyday practice of leadership.
Registration Status

A Doctor of Ministry is a part-time, in-ministry, professional degree. Students in the Doctor of Ministry program are expected to maintain communication and connection with Drew throughout the entire program. Different registration statuses indicate your progress through the program.

Active

Students who are consistently registered for classes (6 credits per semester) will maintain “active” status with Drew. This status allows students access to all academic, support, and student life services at the University. Students who fail to register in any semester will have their status revised to “inactive.”

Continuous Registration (or, Maintaining Matriculation)

Students in Pastoral Identity and Prophetic Fire may only register for a continuous registration course at the end of their program if they need additional time developing or writing their final project. All continuous registration is counted toward the total time allotted for the completion of the program. A continuous registration course fee is charged per semester. Students who need this time should register for one of the following:

- DMIN CR3H - Continuous registration During Professional Project
- DMIN CR4H - Continuous registration After Professional Project

Leave of Absence

Unexpected life events or personal challenges can interrupt a student’s ability to make progress in the degree. At times like this, students might consider a complete leave of absence. This status stops the clock on your allowed time to completion of your degree. In addition to the 5 years allowed to complete the degree, students are allowed two semesters of official leave from the program. As a leave of absence is intended to provide time away from the work of the degree, students do not have access to academic, support, and student life services at the University.

Given the time-bound nature of this program’s meetings, students in Pastoral Identity and Prophetic Fire who take a leave of absence will, upon return, be enrolled in the Courageous Leadership DMin program.
Students may apply for a leave of absence at any time during matriculation in the program. To obtain a leave of absence from the program—whether for medical, financial, or personal reasons—students must file a leave of absence application online. This form is found on the Registrar’s webpage. Any leave of absence that is approved becomes effective as of the date it is processed and is not applied retroactively.

Students who take the leave during a semester should be aware of the grading and refund policies of the university. A leave of absence does not exempt a student from receiving grades for courses they have been registered for or does it guarantee a refund of tuition paid. The date a leave is requested determines the amount of tuition refund (if any). For example, a leave of absence requested and received in the middle or at the end of a semester will not be effective from the beginning of the semester. If you are considering a leave of absence, please review the leave policies and deadlines found on the Registrar and Business Office webpages.

RE-ENTRY FOLLOWING LEAVE OF ABSENCE: When a student plans to return to the program following a leave of absence, s/he must submit a Re-Entry form, which can be found on the Registrar’s webpage. If a student does not return from a leave of absence in the semester following the leave, the student’s status will be revise to “inactive.” If the student is inactive for two semesters, s/he will be withdrawn from the program by the University.

Students in the Pastoral Identity and Prophetic Fire cohort who take a leave of absence will be unable to finish their program in their cohort. Upon return, they will be enrolled in the Courageous Leadership DMin program.

Medical Withdrawal from a Semester

Students with personal emergencies that occur after the drop/add dates have passed may apply for a medical withdrawal from an entire semester. The student must provide documentation of the medical situation. Upon approval by the Associate Dean for the Theological School, the student will be put on leave of absence and receive Ws for all courses in the semester. Regular tuition refund policies apply to medical withdrawals as to leaves of absence.

Students in the Pastoral Identity and Prophetic Fire cohort who take a leave of absence for medical or other reason will be unable to finish their program in their cohort. Upon return, they will be enrolled in the Courageous Leadership DMin program.

Voluntary Withdrawal from the Program

If for any reason a student finds it necessary to withdraw from the program, it is important that this decision be discussed with the Director beforehand and that an appropriate and timely written notice is given to the Director and the University. In order to withdraw from the program, a student completes a Withdrawal form on the Registrar’s page. Any notice of withdrawal from the program becomes official as of the date it is received. A student who has withdrawn from the program has no access to academic, support, and student life services at the University. A student wishing to re-enter a program after withdrawing must re-apply to the program through the Graduate Admissions office.

All withdrawals are subject to the Drew University refund and grading policies and deadlines. Students are encouraged to review these policies with the Director of Doctoral Studies, the Registrar, and the Business Office before submitting an application for withdrawal.

Academic Standing

In addition to regular course grading and assessments, students are evaluated each semester according to the standards of academic achievement and progress. The Graduate Academic Standing Committee reviews each student’s academic performance after each semester and may revise student standing based on this review.

Good Standing

Doctoral students are expected to do excellent work (“B” level) and exceptional work (“A” level). The successful Doctor of Ministry student must complete coursework with an overall average of 3.2 or better, and a professional doctoral project approved (with “pass”) by his or her faculty adviser and assigned reader.

Warning or Probation

Students who do not achieve a 3.2 GPA in any semester will be placed on warning or probation based on the criteria outlined in the Theological School Academic Catalogue posted on the Registrar’s webpage. Students placed on academic probation are returned to good standing if they achieve an overall 3.2 GPA average or better at the next time of review.

Students in the Doctor of Ministry program must attain a cumulative minimum 3.2 GPA in the first twelve credits of their program and again at the completion of the 18 credits of coursework. Students who do not achieve this minimum may be withdrawn from the program at either stage or, in extenuating circumstances, permitted by the Graduate Academic Standing Committee to repeat course(s) in an attempt to achieve the minimum GPA. Repeated courses count toward the overall GPA but do not count in the number of courses required for the degree. Thus students who must take more courses to raise their GPA will complete more than 18 credits of coursework in the program. Repeated course grades do not replace the prior grades in the same course. Students granted such permission who still fail to achieve the minimum GPA will be withdrawn from the program.
Required Withdrawal

A student may be withdrawn from the program by the University for any of the following:

• The failure of a student to maintain a grade point average of 3.2 after completing 12 or 18 credits

• A violation of the University’s Academic Integrity or Human Rights policies.

• Receiving all “F” grades in any one semester

• Being on probation and not returning to Good Standing at the end of the probationary semester

• Having two or more non-consecutive semesters on Warning or Probation

Under exceptional circumstances only, a student on Required Withdrawal may appeal to the Academic Standing Committee to be re-admitted in the next term. If the appeal is approved, the student will be reinstated and placed on Probation. Such re-admissions are granted only in unusual cases, and in no cases may a student be readmitted twice.
Standards of Academic Integrity

You can find the Academic Integrity policy for the Theological School in full here: http://catalog.drew.edu/content.php?catoid=26&navoid=1231

Drew University Standards

Drew University has established standards of academic integrity and procedures. These basic standards apply to all work done at Drew. Students are expected to study and comply with these principles.

The standards of academic integrity apply to information that is presented orally, in writing, or via the computer, in any format ranging from the most informal comment to a formal research paper or the writing of the final paper in reference to the project. These standards apply to source material gathered from other people, from written texts, from computer programs, from the Internet, or from any other location.

The following are examples of academic dishonesty, as defined in this policy:

Duplicate Submission - Submitting one's work in identical or similar form to fulfill more than one requirement without prior approval of the relevant faculty members is a breach of academic integrity. This includes using a paper for more than one course or submitting material previously used to meet another requirement.

False Citation - Listing an author, title, or page reference as the source for obtained material, when the material actually came from another source or from another location within that source, is a breach of academic integrity. See the Turabian Manual of Style (latest edition and/or online quick guide) for how to cite quotations within the body of another author.

Plagiarism - Plagiarism is the act of appropriating or imitating the language, ideas, or thoughts of another and presenting them as one's own or without proper acknowledgment. This includes submitting as one's own a thesis, a paper, or part of a paper written by another person, whether that material was stolen, purchased, or shared freely. It also includes submitting a paper containing insufficient citation or misuse of source material. When in doubt, err on the said of referencing material. Note that each syllabus will outline clearly the Drew University policy.

Sanctions
Sanctions are imposed for demonstrated breaches of academic honesty or scholarly integrity. See the section of the catalogue on procedures for dealing with allegations of academic dishonesty. If dishonesty is determined, the sanctions may range from requiring that an assignment be redone to automatic failure of a course to dismissal from the Theological School.
